Lives Endangered In Sunday Storm

High winds which accompanied the sudden electrical storm Sunday morning caused considerable damage in Essex county, wrecked small craft along the North shore and endangered the lives of four Andover residents when their

Tree Department Nearing Normal

The status of two employees of the tree department who were discharged last week and two others who left at the same time is expected to be determined today with the net result of only one change.

The four conferred with the selectmen Monday night and yesterday three of them conferred with Tree Warden G. R. Abbott.

"It looks as though the three will return to work some time Thursday," Mr. Abbott said later, "but that will be determined among themselves."

Daily Attendance High At Pomp's

Daily attendance of bathers at Pomp's pond continues high as the sultry, sweltering rays of Old Sol keep driving hundreds to seek cooling relief at the town bathing beach.

Guards are making preparations for the annual water carnival which late next month will bring the bathing season at the beach to a close.

There will be the number of usual water safety demonstrations, (Continued on Page 11)

A rustic wooden fence to serve as a guard rail is being placed along Rogers brook on the southeasterly side of the park near Whittier street.

This work is being done by the board of public works and was included in the regular park department appropriation submitted at the last town meeting.

The fence will provide protection for persons who take a short cut from the Memorial auditorium through the park to Whittier street. In the last few years persons not familiar with the location of the brook, the walls of which are about four feet deep as they pass through the park, have received serious injuries by falling into it after leaving the auditorium at night time.

On occasions in the past the board of public works has sought an appropriation to enclose the brook as it passes through the park but special articles for such purpose have been defeated by the voters.

Spray Elms Again From Helicopter

Andover's fine old elm trees for the second time this season were sprayed from the air as a preventive against the dutch elm disease. This second spraying, Tree Warden R. G. Abbott explained, comes at this time of the year which is the peak of the emergence of the young beetle.

Some 500 trees in the center of the town as well as in Ballardvale and Shawsheen were sprayed with 300 gallons of insecticide from a helicopter which started operations at an early hour Tuesday morning.

Besides this Abbott said that all the elms would also be sprayed from underneath with the town sprayer.

WATER IN HAGGETTS DOWN 39.3 INCHES

The water level in Haggett's pond is down 39.3 inches, only half a foot higher than it was at this time two years ago when later in the season it went to the record low level of 72.5 inches in one of the driest periods the town has experienced. The heavy rain Sunday eased some of the pull on the supply but by Tuesday farmers and lawn sprinklers had started again to draw heavily upon the pond. Last week the pond dropped an inch a day until it was at the 38.5 inch low level Saturday.

Wild Storm Sunday Was Thundersquall

Sunday's wild storm that created so much havoc throughout Essex county and the North shore was tabbed by weather officials as a thundersquall, a very unusual disturbance in this section of the country.

The thundersquall is described as "a very severe thunderstorm developing in a squall line."

The squall line is believed to have developed in the Reading-Wakefield area and then moved easterly in a small narrow arc while fanning out in lesser violence to the north and south.

John Campbell, fire ranger on duty at the observation tower on Prospect hill, saw the squall line developing. He said it appeared that two storms met out over the Martins pond area, one coming from the west and the other coming up from the direction of Wakefield. As the storms met in a great torrent of rain the westerly storm carried the other with it and headed in an easterly direction toward the coast.

The only damage reported here from the high wind was the uprooting of a couple of trees on Arvilla road.

Additional Women On New Jury List

The names of more than two score women are included in the jury list which has just been revised for the ensuing year.

Last year was the first time that the town's jury list contained the names of women. This was done in compliance with legislation admitting them to jury duty. At that time the names of about 20 women were inserted in the list. The names were selected after replies were received to a questionnaire sent to a tentative group of prospective women jurors to determine their availability, the number of school children in the family and other similar data.

The complete list for the coming 12 months is as follows:

The annual playground field day will be highlighted next Thursday with a list of running and field events for fathers and mothers that should be just as thrilling as the fine list of sports being arranged for the youngsters.

An innovation for this program will be the inter-playground competition to be staged between the five play centers. This will be accomplished through a handicap in scoring which will place those playgrounds with a small enrollment on par with those with the larger number of entrants.

The field day, which is usually the big closing event of the season for the participants, will be held on the Central playground beginning at 10 a.m.

The Ballardvale carnival, which is also one of the outstanding events of the season, will be held the evening of Wednesday, Aug. 13.

Several activities were held on the various playgrounds last week with a goodly number of participants.

Volunteers Needed For Plane Spotting

Andover's airplane spotting operations are being conducted each Saturday with the small group of men and women which David L. Nicoll, civil defense director, has to take part in this work.

This is a military operation and comes under the head of the defense department, but locally is being conducted under the direction of the civil defense director.

Observation posts in the eastern sector have been placed upon a 24-hour basis but, as is the case locally, many posts are unmanned and can operate only on a part time basis.

Director Nicoll is still in need of many more volunteers for this duty. Both men and women will be acceptable, the women to take care of the day assignments and the men the night hours.

Each volunteer is asked to serve only three hours a week but may remain on duty longer if desired.

Sea Rescue

Lt. Arthur Powell, U.S.N. of Tewksbury, a pilot, became a hero of a sea drama July 10 when the blimp he was piloting crashed and dunked its eight crew members into the sea 40 miles from its base at the Boca Chica naval air station at Key West. Both propellers of the giant blimp were smashed but all members of the crew escaped injury. Lt. Powell and Lt. Cmdr. Baker, the observer, volunteered to remain with the ship while the crew took to rubber rafts. The air ship was then towed by a submarine to the base. Lt. Powell's wife is the former Janet Guild of Shawsheen, daughter of Mrs. Elsa Guild of Balmoral st.

WANSKER - HADLEY

The Pilgrim Congregational church at Duxbury was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday July 26 when Richard J. Wansker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wansker of Duxbury, took for his bride Miss Margaret R. Hadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Hadley of Chester st., Ballardvale. The Rev. George N. C. Mott of Middleboro, a friend of the bride's family, performed the 4 o'clock ceremony before an altar banked with white gladioli and ivy.

Preceding the bride were her bridesmaids, Mrs. John K. Parker, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Dorothy Steinert of Lawrence, cousin of the bride, and Miss Genevieve Mott of Middleboro, who was maid of honor. Miss Mott wore a gown of nylon marquisette over faille taffeta in lilac shade. She carried a bouquet of orchid colored asters with baby's breath and wore a matching floral headpiece. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns, Miss Steinert in yellow and Mrs. Parker in green mint. Mrs. Leslie R. Hadley of California, sister-in-law of the bride, was the honorary bridesmaid.

Escorted to the altar by her father the bride wore a white nylon marquisette gown over bridal satin fashioned with a sheer illusion yoke, long pointed sleeves and cascading ruffles of lace. She carried a bouquet of white asters and ivy.

Charles H. Wansker Jr., of Boston and Duxbury was best man for his brother. The ushers were Dudley Thomas of Quincy, John K. Parker, Ronald R. Everett, and Alden Ringquist, all of Duxbury.

Receiving with the newlyweds the bride's mother navy blue blue heirloom lace and navy blue hat of swiss braid and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Wansker, mother of the bridegroom, wore gray permasilk with a pink hat and a corsage of roses.

The bride has been supervisor of music in the Duxbury public schools for the past three years and is a graduate of Boston university. Mr. Wansker attended Belmont Hill and Nichols college. They will reside in Duxbury.

Youngsters Made Happy

Herding nearly 400 very lively youngsters into busses, transporting them to a recreation spot out of the state, turning them loose among many attractions then gathering them together in that amusement spot and returning home without a mishap — not even a tummy ache — is an achievement that requires patience, care and no little amount of leg work.

The playground recreation staff, however, under the direction of James D. Doherty, recreation director, and George Snyder, assistant director accomplished that very pleasant task last week much to the enjoyment of the small fry who look upon this annual outing to Canobie Lake as one of the big events of the summer season.

Many hours of planning and arranging for such an affair had to be completed down to the last ticket and chocolate bar so that the whole program would run smoothly and the juvenile element that populates the town play centers during the summer months could have a day of fun and amusement that would long remain in their memories.

Thanks to the way it was managed the annual playground outing was a very happy affair for all concerned as well as a highly commendable effort on the part of the playground staff.

There is but one way to get rid of the spending and that is to get rid of the spenders.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — July 1902

W. H. Higgins purchased a very fast and clever brown mare trotter on his recent trip down East.

Fr. Cullinane, an Andover boy, son of Jeremiah Cullinane of Ridge st., and a former football player at Phillips academy, is stationed at St. Laurence's church, Lawrence.

Perley F. Gilbert elected president of the Christian Endeavor society of the Baptist church at the recent semi-annual meeting.

Over a dozen Andover boys working on that section of the Salem-Lawrence electric road that runs through North Andover.

Commenting on the $16 tax rate just announced by the assessors we say editorially, "The Andover taxpayer has little cause to object to the town expenditures when our neighbors are taken into account, for nearly every town in the vicinity has a higher rate and less to show for it than does Andover."

In the Trolley League Andover lost 6 — 3 to the St. Charles team of Woburn. Mander pitched for Andover and did effective work but nine Andover errors were costly.

25 Years Ago — July 1927

Head-on collision of autos on North Main street in front of the Shawsheen Manor Sunday sent three persons from out-of-town to the hospital, one in a very serious condition.

A horse burned to death when fire damaged a barn adjoining the home of Triffle Lamontagne on Beacon street, in West Andover.

Baby clinic held at Guild house with 49 babies being examined by Dr. W. D. Walker, physician in charge, assisted by Miss Marie Campbell, Red Cross nurse, and Mrs. Lotta Johnson, board of health nurse.

Seven boy scouts from Andover are among the group spending a vacation at Camp Chadwick in Dunstable.

A new spring board has been added to the fine equipment now installed at Pomp's pond.

Passengers on the SS. Transylvania which sailed Sunday from Boston for Glasgow included Mrs. Robert T. Cairnie, Mrs. Helen MacDonald, James Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Martin and daughter, Isobel.

The Townsman wonders why there is so much objection to having the traffic officers on duty in the square shed their coats while on duty in hot weather. The coatless officer in white shirt and bow tie is neither displeasing to look upon nor undignified.

10 Years Ago — July 1942

School committee in economy move decides to close North, West Center and Bradlee schools, discharge three teachers, discontinue art department and enforce 2-mile limit on transportation, thereby cutting down bus service.

THE CAMPAIGN

Everyone is listening, discussing, thinking and talking about the big issues confronting the American people in this election year. But the person who really holds his own in a group is the person who has read up on all sides of the questions in debate. The Memorial Hall library has set aside material on the issues, the candidates and the processes of election, all of which may be borrowed. Here are a few of the books to be found in the display:

The Citizen Decides, Perry.

The sub-title of this book is "a guide to responsible thinking in times of crisis." Ralph Barton Perry outlines a course of action for the average person on how to think clearly on some of the controversial issues of today.

The Pattern Of Responsibility, Acheson.

Here are statements on matters of foreign policy as expressed by Dean Acheson and edited by McGeorge Bundy.

Economy In National Government, Douglas.

Paul H. Douglas, the senator from Illinois, shows where and how federal spending can be cut without diminishing our armed strength.

The Future Of American Politics, Lubell.

A lively and non-partisan account of the eight new developments which are creating a hidden revolution in our political life. An important analysis of American politics.

How To Keep Our Liberty, Moley.

A book that will be discussed by those who read it. Raymond Moley condemns many of the policies of the New Deal and the Fair Deal as being away from the American ideal.

Let's Go Into Politics, Baldwin.

If you don't like the way your world is run, here's the first step to take towards an active part in political life. The simplest, safest techniques for getting ahead, by way of radio, television, participation in local affairs, study. Author Baldwin has been governor of Connecticut and a U.S. senator.

A biography of the governor of Illinois, written by the senior editor of Life magazine, with an introduction by Stevenson himself. Over a hundred pictures and documents included.

What Eisenhower Thinks, Eisenhower.

Here are the Republican candidate's own words on labor and management, statism, social reform, education, foreign policy, military affairs and other matters as expressed in his speeches delivered in recent years.

Take Town Water To N. H. Brush Fire

It took just one hour with a police escort to get three large tank trucks filled with Andover water to a brush fire in the Candia-Deerfield, N.H., area one day last week.

Tank trucks from the Watson Park Chemical Co., operated by former Selectman Howell M. Shepard sped behind police cars to the New Hampshire blaze which had endangered Shepard's property near there.

It was just an hour after he had asked for a police escort here last Wednesday afternoon that Shepard notified the local station that the trucks had arrived.

PUPPET MAKING

Two different groups of puppet makers have been busily at work two mornings a week at the library since late June. Boys and girls were divided into age groups this year, and have spent many happy, busy moments creating a wide variety of marionettes to represent characters in the world of books. Wood, spools, paints, rope, yarn and cloth, when properly assembled, can become queens, kings, animals, princesses, witches and elves. The young people hope to put their hand-work to good purpose at a later date.

TRAINING AT SAMPSON

Basic Airman Francis M. Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gallagher, 65 Green st., has completed four weeks of air force indoctrination training at the Sampson (N.Y.) airforce base. He will complete his training at Sampson about Aug. 16.

LIGHTNING STRIKES SHAWSHEEN HOME

During the heavy thunder shower which swept over the town Sunday morning lightning struck the chimney on the home of Howard Galley, 10 Yale rd., in Shawsheen.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Breaking a very tight game wide open in the sixth inning the Tower Hill team in the Junior League scored five runs which gave them a 7-1 victory over the Andover boys on the local playstead July 23. Murray, the local pitcher, struck out nine but issued seven passes, while Scanlon who succeeded him fanned two and passed one. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

The two-hit pitching of John Murray featured the Andover Junior League team's 2-1 victory over North Lawrence at the latter's grounds Monday night. Not a Lawrence player reached first until the sixth. The batting of Frank Nelligan and Billy Nightingale played a prominent part in the Andover win.

The fire department was summoned by an alarm from box 663 at 10:39 a.m., and reported that damage was confined to a section of the roof, the second floor ceiling and a bed which was set afire. The owner and his family were away at the time.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

The semi-final playoffs in the Twilight League were started last Monday between the CYO, winners of first place in the standings, and the Browns, third place winners, in a two out of three series. The CYO team won 6-0.

Little League

In a free scoring game on the playstead Sunday night the Andover Cardinals tallied five runs in the fourth inning to earn a 7-6 decision over the Red Sox.

The Andover Cardinals had their batting togs on Tuesday night when they rapped out 13 hits in their closing game of the season to score a 19 - 2 victory over the Indians. Williams had four out of five, one a double and another a homer. Simeone, Cronin and McCullom also hit for extra bases.

Recovers $2500
In Lost Handbag

The honesty of a Lawrence jeweler enabled Mrs. Hilda Collins of Wolcott ave., to recover $2500 which she had lost in the nearby city last Monday.

While crossing Essex street at Jackson street about 2 p.m., George E. Fickenworth, 190 Ferry st., Lawrence, found a woman's handbag in the roadway. He opened it in his store and found it contained $426 in cash, an envelope and some papers.

Lawrence police were notified and Deputy Chief Arthur J. Riley went to the store and inspecting the purse found the envelope contained $2000 in bills. Mrs. Collins was contacted and identified the bag and its contents in the presence of Fickenworth, Riley and Sgt. W. R. Hickey of the Andover police. The money was to be used for the purchase of a car.

and daughter, Nancy, 1 Prospect rd., and George Potier of Locke st., were in the 40-foot cabin cruiser which was filled knee-deep with water before being beached on Great Misery island. Nancy and the family dog, Tony, climbed to safety over the large rocks against which the craft was driven by the heavy sea.

Another boat which rode out the squall came to their assistance and towed them to shore where their boat was beached. The party had gone out from the Jubilee Yacht club of Beverly about half an hour before the storm.

The storm took five lives, possibly more, as it tore across Salem Willows, and the coast of Marblehead and Beverly with 30-foot waves.

At Marblehead several teen-age youngsters in small 110 class racing sloops were trapped by the squall but the crews, made up of boys and girls, clung to the hulls of their swamped craft until lobstermen took them aboard. One of those rescued was identified as Polly Hogan, 12, of Andover. Another Andover youngster reported to be in this group was Robert Bloomquist, 10 Canterbury st.

Many Brush Fires During Dry Spell

Several calls were received July 25, as follows:

10:55 a.m., brush fire off Bailey rd., near Tewksbury line. Engine 4 and jeep responded, Tewksbury apparatus also at blaze. The local company returned at 1:37 p.m.

11:55 a.m. Grass fire on Lowell st., in West Andover on land owned by Sepharine M. Silva. Engine 1 responded.

2:06 p.m. Grass fire on land of Mrs. Edward Downes, 125 N. Main st. Engine 4 responded.
